WHAT PEOPLE SAY

"Soli is an absolutely BLOCKBUSTER speaker; she'll have your audience on the edge of their seats, captivate them with her message and inspire them to be a force for positive change"

— Will Gilroy, Director of Policy and Communications, WFA

"Thank you for delivering the closing keynote. It was the toughest moment of the day with low energy levels in the room but you left a very positive impact on participants. Sustainability leaders in our network, and within the WorldGBC team as well, picked on your key messages and the term "solutionist" was repeatedly mentioned in our internal sessions during the following days of the Global Solutions Forum. I personally enjoyed your point on rethinking our welcoming culture in our sustainability bubble, and I'm happy to say that this point is reflected in WorldGBC's upcoming strategy, with people-centred and simplified language."

— Julie Emmrich, Sustainable Finance Lead, World Green Building Council

"It can still be challenging to cut-through skepticism about why sustainability matters: is it a worthy but dull reporting and compliance exercise, for example, or perhaps corporate virtue-signalling that can be reduced as external attention turns elsewhere? Not when you listen to Soli - it's urgent, immediate, and most of all exciting. When she speaks, Soli delivers all the energy, creativity, and innovation that fizzes through the sustainability sector right now. By the time you've finished, the audience will have turned from observer to advocate, and from passive to active engagement with the topic. She has played a pivotal role in helping to develop our strategies and those of the wider sport, and is a fantastic partner on our path to decarbonisation."

— Bradley Lord, Team Representative & Chief Communications Officer, Mercedes-Benz Grand Prix Limited
